Make your own sketchbook, journal, photo album, a beautiful gift for someone special or sculpt a book into a work of art

Inspired by her post graduate studies in Carbondale Illinois, resident artist Kelly Sim will guide participants through a series of demonstrations and practical workshops to cover a range of bookbinding styles. Under experienced tuition the course will both develop the skills required to construct books in a variety of ways and challenge the notion of the 'book' itself. Participants will have the opportunity to create their own beautifully hand-crafted books using a range of papers, bindings and approaches, as well as sculpt pages within an altered book project. Specifically designed to appeal to those who have an interest in books and craft, this course will cover both traditional and non-traditional outcomes.
